

Belknap County

Located just southeast of the geographic center of the state in New Hampshire's Lakes Region, Belknap County was established in 1840 from portions of Strafford County. The county was named for Dr. Jeremy Belknap, Dover Congregational Church minister and author of The History of New Hampshire, which chronicled the early history of the state. Belknap is one of two counties in the state without an interstate border; Merrimack is the other. A large part of Lake Winnepesaukee, all of Lake Winnisquam, and many smaller lakes cover nearly one-sixth of the county, the largest amount of inland water among New Hampshire's counties.

Belknap County contains 400.2 square miles of land area and 68.4 square miles of inland water area. Based on the 2010 Census population, the population density is 150.1 persons per square mile. Belknap County includes one city, Laconia, and ten towns. The county seat is Laconia.

Population Trends: Belknap County experienced its highest rate of growth from 1970 to 1980, when the population grew by 32.5 percent, adding 10,500 residents. Belknap ranked in the bottom third among all counties every census from 1790 to 1970, then rose to seventh, holding that rank ever since. Population increase in both 1990 and 2000 was just over 6,000 residents. Between 2000 and 2010, the rate of growth slowed a little more, increasing by 8.6 percent, adding 4,700 residents. Belknap County residents are generally older as well, having the third-highest median age in New Hampshire. The median age of women is higher than that of men, by about one year.
